Cooperative Education Policy for Florida Tech University Online Students

Academic credit is not available for Online students who participate in experiential learning. Experiential learning is defined as a job related to the students’ major and may include temporary jobs such as co-op or internship jobs or a full-time permanent job that happens to be related to the students’ major.

Online students seeking to gain work experience in their major are encouraged to utilize the resources provided by Career Management Services that are outlined at http://www.fit.edu/career/online/index.php.

Online students who have a job offer with a federal agency that requires either enrollment verification or a SCEP Agreement signed should contact the office of Online Learning at uahelp@fit.edu. Online students who have a co-op job offer with NASA (or other federal agency) and who need to enroll in a co-op program should fill out the co-op enrollment form found at http://www.fit.edu/career/online/index.php and return it to career@fit.edu.
