BICENTENNIAL EXHIBIT AT F.I.T.

Two hundred years of U. S. Army history will be displayed on campus from October 27 through October 31 (Monday through Friday) as part of the Bicentennial Program sponsored by the F.I.T. Reserve Officers Training Corps Unit.

The U. S. Army Materiel Command's Mobile Bicentennial Exhibit—with films, color slides, photos, models and displays—will be at the F.I.T. Gymnasium. There is no charge for admission, and the unit will be open to the public from Monday noon October 27 and each day from 9:00a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The exhibit is on tour in connection with both the Army's two-hundredth anniversary celebration, and the United States Bicentennial. Visitors will be exposed to the history and development of Army logistics, including personnel support, communications, transportation and firepower, from 1775 to the present.

Items of interest include visual presentations of the history of Army uniforms, and historical background on artillery and missiles, featuring display items and photo murals.

Early communications methods, such as telegraphy and carrier pigeons are explained and illustrated, and models and mock-ups of modern laser and infrared devices bring visitors up-to-date with today's Army communications equipment.

Additionally, developments in U. S. Army transportation—from horses to helicopters, from camels to tanks—are presented in a series of illuminated dioramas.

ARTIFICIAL REEF PROJECT

The final 5,000 tires for the Stuart Sailfish Club's artificial reef project were unloaded recently by more than 30 volunteers from Florida Institute of Technology and the community. They did the job of dumping the 70 pound plus passenger tires in 45 minutes. The drop, which had been scrubbed three times because of bad weather, was described as the smoothest of all three drops by Dr. Ed Ernst, project chairman. Divers from F.I.T., Jensen Beach (five of them young women) were sent down prior to the unloading to check the position of tires dropped twice in previous weeks. They found the new tires attracting larger predator fish.

STUDENTS RECEIVE CITATION

The Stuart Sailfish Club, at their most recent meeting, presented a citation to F.I.T., for "help of all kinds from welders, divers, workers, underwater photographers, consultants in ecology, hydraulics and metallurgy, whenever asked." Student Mike Dougherty, who personally has worked many hours on the reef project, also was given a special citation.

SOCCER TEAM OPENS WITH WIN

In a surprise win, the JBC soccer team stunned the Melbourne F.I.T. kickers with a 7-1 victory in the opening game.

Coach Pete Navaretta said, "Last year we had mostly freshmen and this year they have grown up. They played the way the game is supposed to be played." He credited fine teamwork and superior conditioning as the key to the game. JBC goals were scored by Roberto Riveros who tallied four himself, and one apiece by Craig Bowers, Raney Solorzano and Radi Moshin.

Melbourne scored their lone goal with just 15 seconds remaining in the game.
